

What's that Sound? Activity for Babies

This activity helps your baby connect language with sound while enhancing the idea of object permanence.

Take an old coffee can or another opaque container. Choose several objects such as a stuffed animal, a rubber duck, some keys and a baby spoon. Place one of your objects in the container and shake it. Let your baby hear the sounds. Make a puzzled face and ask, “¿Qué es el ruido?” Open the container and look surprised and say the name of the object in Spanish.
